

Mooring procedure for large leisure boats

For all vessels placed on the South side of Albert Edouard Jetty, berths are equipped with two anchorages which are not joined to the dock.

For vessels arriving in the port :

- Prepare and drop an anchor before starting to manoeuvre alongside the dock
- Prepare two small halyards at the front while you wait for the anchorages
- The anchorages are provided by the divers before the anchor is pulled up

For the North side of Albert Edouard Jetty, quai Laubeuf and quai St Pierre, the berths are equipped with just one anchorage.

The procedure is identical if the mooring line is not present when the vessel arrives (follow the instructions of the port masters and dock guards)

For the safety of the divers:

- The anchorages will be provided once the thrusters have been cut
- The anchor must be pulled up before the vessel leaves
- No anchors will be extricated if the vessel is stuck on the water body with engines running (in such cases, the vessel must return to its berth)

This service, anchorage / hoisting of anchors, is available for free when the divers are present***.

All additional services will be invoiced as per the rates in force.
